LATE POPE BENEDICT XV.

Supreme Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, who died in Rome, Italy, Jan. 22, 1922. He was born in Genoa, Italy, Nov. 21, 1854. His election as Pope, succeeding Pius X., took place on Sept. 3, 1914.

Tornado in Arkansas—Hindu Funeral Rites in Canada

HAVOC BY CYCLONE
Wrecked section of Clarkdale, Ark., after a cyclone had swept through it recently. The windstorm lasted only two minutes, but in that time it wiped out the only brick building in town, inflicted severe damage on other structures, killed four people and injured thirty-one. Railroad cars were overturned after having been pushed along the tracks 150 yards.

HINDU CREMATION IN BRITISH COLUMBIA
The ceremonies here pictured are common enough in India, but unusual in American countries. This Hindu cremation took place recently in Nelson, British Columbia, Canada. The body was prepared for cremation by being thoroughly greased with butter. The casket was placed on a funeral pyre about ten feet high. Fifteen gallons of coal oil were poured over the pile and then ignited to the accompaniment of a weird, chanting, sing-song prayer that lasted fifteen minutes.

MOONSHINING OUTFIT SEIZED
Stills and other contraband materials seized by the Hoboken police when they raided the premises at 330 Court Street, that city, and captured the largest collection of moonshine apparatus so far taken in that State. In the seizure there was one forty-gallon still, one ten-gallon still and others of various sizes, besides 200 gallons of alcohol and eight hogsheads of mash. Police and officials are seen studying the confiscated material.

Notice to Amateur Photographers:—The MID-WEEK PICTORIAL will pay $10 for the best photographic print of any big event in the United States or Canada of the week's news taken by an amateur photographer. The editors will make the choice. Any other submitted prints used will be paid for at 50 cents each. Prints not used will be returned only if postage is sent. Send the prints unmounted, any size. Address The MID-WEEK PICTORIAL, Room 708, Times Building, Times Square, New York City.
Viscount Bryce of Dechmont was considered one of the foremost scholars of politics and governmental structure in the world, but to this reputation, acquired first with the publication of a dissertation on the Holy Roman Empire when he was only 24 years old, he added greatness in many other fields of endeavor.

In the field of diplomacy he served Great Britain for six years as Ambassador to this country, and societies formed on both sides of the Atlantic for the creation of better relations between the two countries have repeatedly given their official opinion that the "English Yankee" had done more for the betterment of Anglo-American relations than any other living man.

From the time of his first visit to this country, about 1870, he had been preaching continually for closer relationship and friendship between the United States and the constituents of the British Empire. The United States knew him best as Ambassador and lecturer and as author of an authoritative work on the American governmental system, entitled "The American Commonwealth." This work has been used in schools and colleges throughout the country since its publication.

GREATEST JAPANESE ARTIST
Shunko Sugura, standing among his paintings, is recognized as the greatest of Japanese artists, so great indeed that his paintings are said to be barred from public salons in order that the glaring inferiority of other artists may not be emphasized.

AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

CONTRASTS OF TRANSPORTATION
A curious contrast is here presented by the procession of elephants on the one hand and the high-powered automobile of the Prince of Wales at the right. The stately beasts are drawing the silver carriage of the Maharajah of Bharatpur at perhaps four miles an hour. The Prince's car, with his insignia on front, can easily make sixty miles an hour. It illustrates the energy of the West versus the placidity of the East.

INTERNATIONAL SKI-JUMPING CHAMPION EXHIBITING HIS SKILL AT LAKE PLACID, NEW YORK

Anthony Maurer of Switzerland, who has won renown at the perilous sport of ski jumping in his own and other countries, making one of his daring cross-jumps at the tournament recently held at Lake Placid, New York. This special jump is full of danger and more than one adventurous jumper has broken his limbs or neck in attempting it, but Maurer's skill carried him through the test successfully.

Few religions are as fanatical or as fiercely opposed to other faiths as Mohammedanism, and this fact makes more remarkable the erection in Constantinople of the above statue of the late Pope Benedict XV. The list of subscribers to the fund for the statue was headed by the Sultan of Turkey himself. The pedestal bears the inscription: “To the Great Pontiff of the world tragedy, Benedict XV., benefactor of the peoples without regard to their nationality and creed, in token of profound gratitude—The Orient, 1914-1921.”

Swiss Guards of the Vatican in Medieval Dress Swearing Allegiance to the Pope

Place of Meeting for Election of the New Pope

Hall of the Vatican where the Conclave of Cardinals will be held for the election of the successor to Pope Benedict XV. A canopy stands over the chair of each Cardinal, and when the Pope has been chosen his election is indicated by lowering the canopies over each chair except that of the Pontiff-elect.

Form of ballot used in the election of the Pope. It is in Latin, with places for the signature and seals of the Cardinal voting. The ballot says in substance: "I vote for —— as Supreme Pontiff." Only Cardinals are entitled to vote.

Place where the Conclave will meet. On each side of the hall are small apartments, of which each Cardinal will occupy one. They will have no communication with the outside world until the new Pope is elected.

William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, who has departed for Rome. Even if late, he can enter the conclave at any stage of the proceedings.

Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, who will take part in the conclave.

Cardinal Pietro Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, who, after the death of the Pope, becomes temporary head of the Church until the election of a new Pope.
Scene That Attended the Election of Pope Benedict XV.

Great Throng that waited in front of the Vatican in Rome, Italy, Sept. 3, 1914, for the announcement of the election of the Pope. When from the balcony above it was proclaimed that Benedict XV. had been chosen the multitude broke into enthusiastic cheering. He had been a popular candidate, not only because of his piety and learning, but also because of his reputation for kindness of heart and sympathy for the poor.
CRYPT AT ROME, WHERE PAST OCCUPANTS OF THE PAPAL THRONE HAVE BEEN LAID TO REST. AT ONE PERIOD THE REMAINS LAY FOR A TIME IN THE CRYPT, WHICH IS EXTREMELY ANCIENT AND WAS PART OF THE FORMER EDIFICES ON THE SITE, AND WERE THEN BURIED IN SOME ROMAN CHURCH. THIS PRACTICE IS NO LONGER POSSIBLE. THE BODY OF LEO XIII. REPOSES IN A NICHE ABOVE THE DOOR OF THE CHAPEL, AND THAT OF PIUS X., THE IMMEDIATE PREDECESSOR OF POPE BENEDICT, LIES IN THE CRYPT.

TOMB OF PIUS X. IN THE CRYPT OF THE VATICAN. IT IS OF STONE, MARKED WITH A CROSS AND BEARING THE OFFICIAL DESIGNATION OF THE DEAD PONTIFF. BEFORE THE FINAL INTERMENT IT HAS BEEN THE CUSTOM TO REMOVE THE HEART AND PLACE IT IN A GOLDEN VASE, BUT IT IS STATED THAT THE LATE POPE REQUESTED THAT THIS PRACTICE SHOULD NOT BE FOLLOWED IN HIS CASE.
The Church of St. Peter's, Rome, has been much in the attention of the world recently because of the burial services of the late Pope Benedict XV, that were held in the august structure. The interior of the church is here shown during the performance of a solemn function. It is the largest and most superb church in the world, and is invested with special sanctity in the minds of votaries of the Roman Catholic Church. More than any other it is identified with the idea of the Papacy, as it adjoins the Lateran Palace and the Vatican, which for centuries have been the dwellings of the Popes. This chief shrine of Roman Catholicism is built on the site of Caligula's Circus, where Nero tortured the Christians, and thus emphasizes the triumph of Christianity over paganism. First erected by Constantine as a basilica, it was reconstructed under Nicholas V, as a Latin cross. Bramante, under Julius II, remodeled it as a Greek cross. Michel Angelo elaborated and embellished Bramante's design, and added the marvelous dome, which has been at once the admiration and despair of architects since his time. Unfortunately the facade added by Paul V, obscures the beauty of the dome. The church covers an area of 18,000 square yards; the extreme height is 435 feet. Under the high altar is the reputed tomb of St. Peter. The grandeur and magnificence of the interior are overpowering.
Incident of the Recent Uprising in Cairo, Egypt, Against the British Authorities

Scene at the railway station in Cairo, Egypt, after the rioters had set fire to the station and torn up part of the railway line. The Egyptian police were powerless to curb the rioters, who prevented the firemen from extinguishing the flames. It was not until after the arrival of British troops that the disorders could be quelled. The immediate cause of the outbreak was the order of General Allenby expelling Zaglul Pasha, the nationalist leader, from Cairo. Since that time Zaglul Pasha and other leaders of the movement have been deported. Egypt has long been seething in revolt and the problem of administering the country is one of the gravest that confronts the British government.

Historic Session of the Dáil Éireann in Which Anglo-Irish Treaty Was Debated
Episodes in Ireland Under the New Regime

WAITING FOR RATIFICATION
Throng outside University College, Dublin, on the night preceding the ratification of the Anglo-Irish peace agreement, waiting anxiously for news of the decision reached by the Dail Eireann. The feeling of the crowd was strongly in favor of ratification.

(REMOVING WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS
A visible sign of the new era that has dawned upon Ireland is this photograph showing the removal of barbed-wire entanglements that had surrounded Dublin Castle during the unhappy civil strife that had been going on for several years past. British soldiers carried out the work preparatory to the turning over of the castle to the new Provisional Government of the Irish Free State, which has since taken possession of the historic structure.

Community Work in Roadmaking—Balking Landlords

PHANTOM CANON HIGHWAY
Mountain road covering a distance of thirty-two miles, extending from Canon City and Florence to Victor and Cripple Creek, Col. For a time it was rendered impassable by heavy floods, and State engineers estimated that it would take $90,000 to put it in shape for travel. The money was not available, and so the citizens turned out to the number of from 75 to 150 each day and with indomitable Western spirit set to work, with the result that in a surprisingly short time the task was completed.

HOUSEBOAT COLONY
The housing shortage is so acute and the rent charges so high that a number of citizens in Harlem have made their homes in houseboats on the river. They are very comfortable homes at that, being supplied with electricity, modern bathrooms and many other latest improvements. The life is a very cheerful one owing to the fact that there are no visits from profiteering landlords to be dreaded, and the only charge is $5 a month that the city demands for the location. Part of the houseboat colony on the Harlem River is here shown.

FEET that cry for comfort

SOMEWHERE, at some hour, the nerves of your feet seem to utter a little cry. As time goes on, the cry comes oftener and grows louder. It's a warning that fallen arches, backache, nerve-strain, headache may develop.

Your feet desire shoe arches that are flexible like their own arches. The flexible arch of the Cantilever Shoe improves circulation and permits strengthening exercise of foot-muscles. Cantilevers have no metal shank-piece concealed in the leather, as do ordinary shoes. Cantilevers lace up trimly and afford each arch the precise degree of support it needs. For weak arches that need correction, wear Cantilevers and see how quickly you improve.

Cantilever Shoes make it easy to shop, stand and walk without tiring so soon. Life becomes brighter and happier when your feet are comfortably cared for. It isn't as if you had to make a sacrifice for your comfort. Cantilever Shoes are not only beautifully comfortable, but they are good looking. Prices are reasonable.

Ask for a demonstration at the nearest dealer's. If none listed here is near you, write to the manufacturers, Morse & Burt Co., 11 Carlton Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., for the address of a nearby dealer and an interesting book-let that explains why so many people have fallen arches.
